A WORLD OF STUDENTS IS WAITING

From China to Chile, India to Italy, only the TOEFL® test is used by students from more than 180 countries to reach study abroad destinations all over the world — including yours. Wherever English is spoken, TOEFL scores provide institutions with the largest and most diverse pool of applicants to choose from.

Universities worldwide trust the TOEFL® test, because it's:

The most widely available. Only the TOEFL test has more than 4,500 testing sites in over 165 countries — 9 times more than any other test.

The most widely accepted. Only the TOEFL test is accepted by more than 8,000 institutions, immigration authorities and scholarship agencies in over 130 countries.

The most authentic. With 100% authentic academic content, the TOEFL test measures the kind of integrated English skills students will actually use in an academic setting — so you'll know by their scores if they have the skills needed to succeed at your institution.

The most fair, unbiased and objective. The TOEFL test uses a centralized scoring method, independent of the test center, to ensure the security and validity of scores. In addition, the TOEFL test uses multiple raters to evaluate the speaking and writing sections of the test — and all raters are monitored daily to ensure the scores they give are fair and objective.

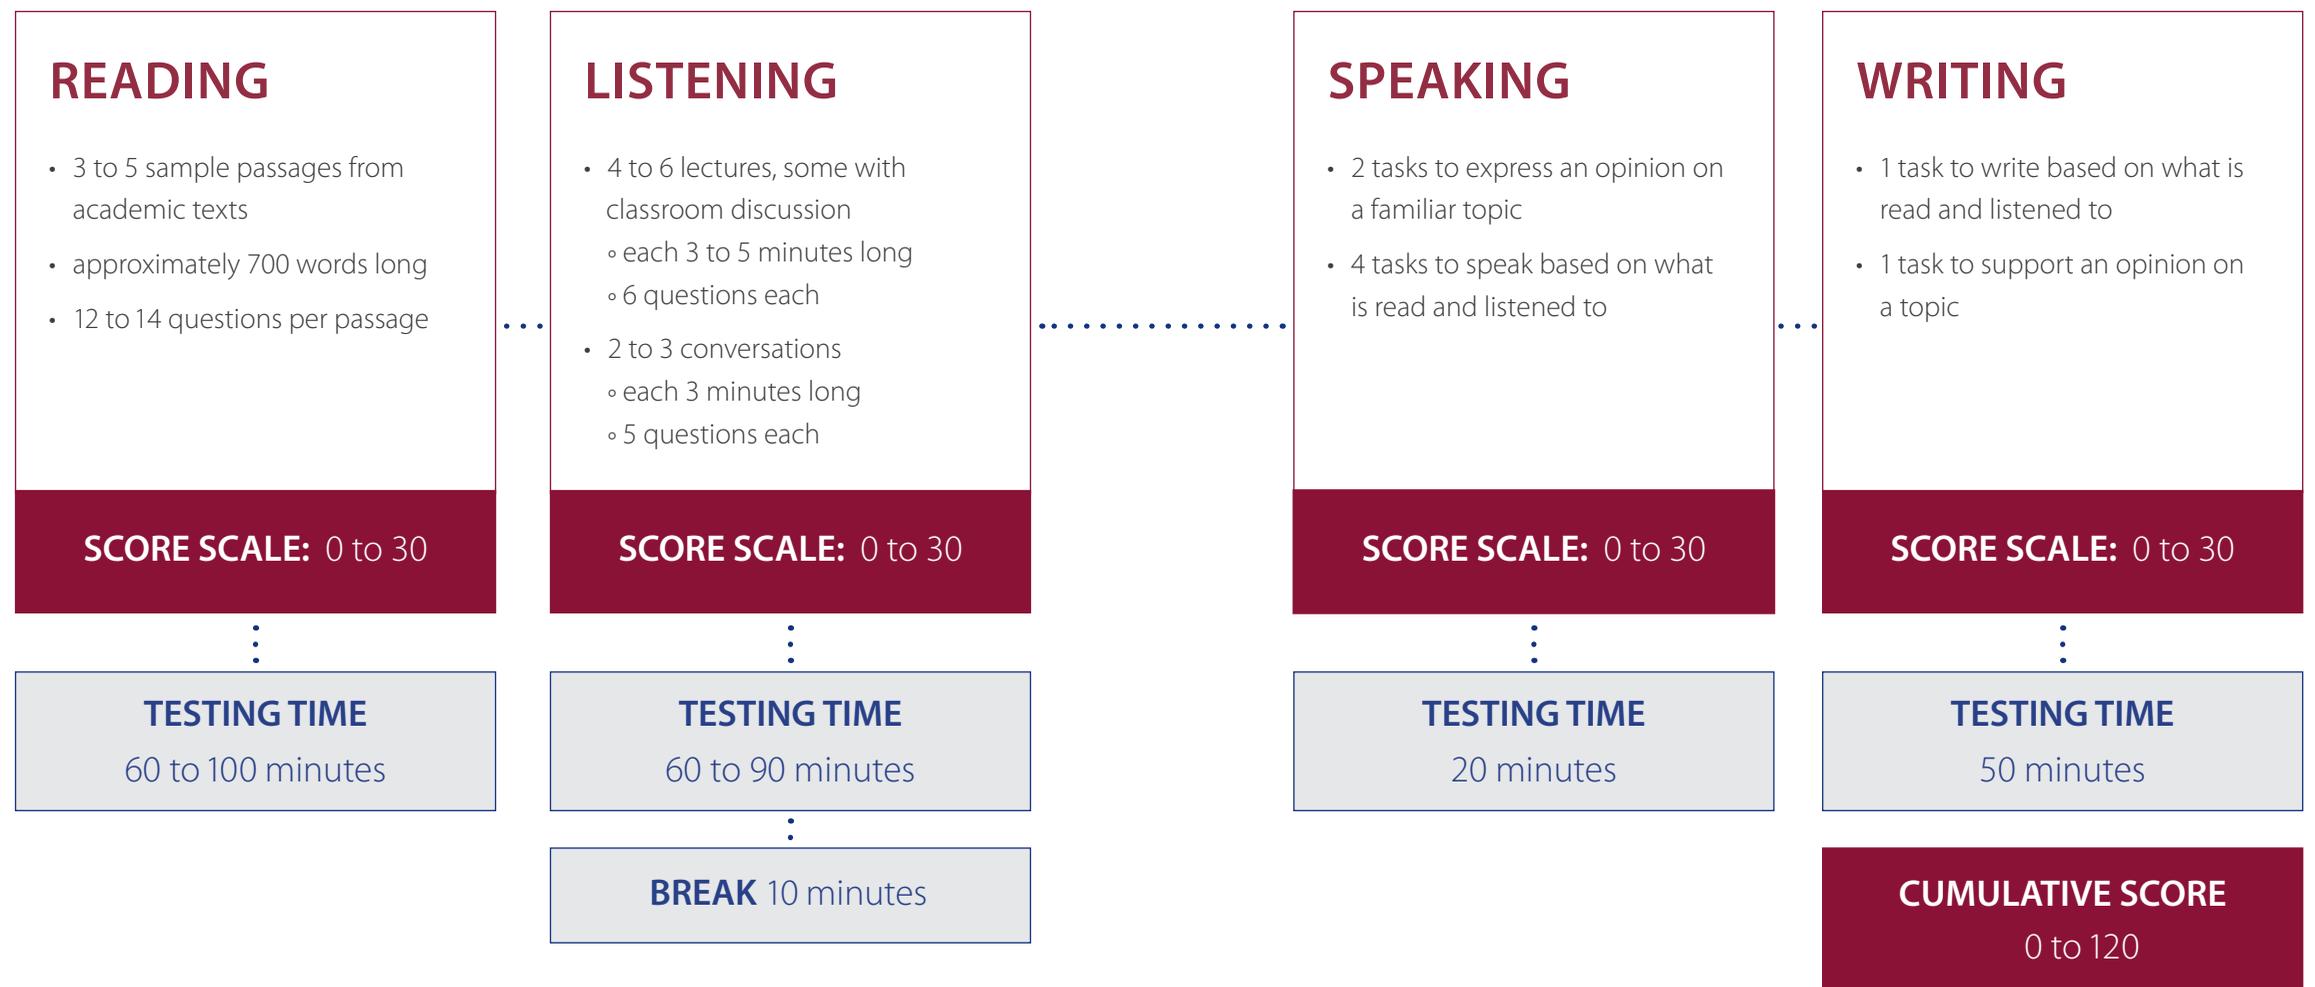

The most researched. The TOEFL test was developed with the cooperation of some of the world's leading experts in psychometrics and statistics, using rigorous research. More than 150 research reports support the design and validity of the TOEFL test.

THE TOEFL iBT® TEST AT A GLANCE

The TOEFL iBT® test measures the 4 English language skills students will need to succeed at your institution — reading, listening, speaking and writing. Composed of 100% academic content, the test integrates these 4 skills so you can be confident that students who score well are prepared to do their best in the classroom and beyond.

Below is a snapshot of the different sections of the test, the activities contained within each section, the time it takes to complete that section and the score scale.

RESEARCH

For more than 40 years, ETS has made research the foundation for the TOEFL® test. We have published more than 150 peer-reviewed research reports, numerous books, journal articles and book chapters to support test design and validity, so you know that when you use TOEFL iBT® scores, you can be confident that applicants have the English language skills they need for success.

“Now, after a decade of research and development, I am certain that the TOEFL iBT test is as valid, comprehensive and reliable an indicator as can be expected from an internationally administered test of students’ abilities to perform competently in English at universities or colleges.”

Validity built into test design

In designing the TOEFL iBT test, we have drawn on a solid research and development base, in-depth needs analyses to identify the communication skills critical for academic success, and extensive input from English language experts. We have built validity into the test design from the beginning.

Ongoing research ensures high-quality scores

As test methods and content for the TOEFL test continue to evolve, we repeatedly re-examine test validity, fairness and reliability. Our continuous strong commitment to research ensures the quality of the TOEFL iBT scores for you to make accurate admissions decisions.

Practical research supports user needs

We have aggressively supported research to investigate test takers’ and test users’ reactions to the TOEFL iBT test to ensure that our test meets the needs of our users.

Standing behind our claims

Our extensive peer-reviewed ETS research and independent research by leading experts gives us the confidence to stand behind our claims that TOEFL iBT test scores reflect the actual communication skills of test takers in an academic setting.

SCORING

The TOEFL® test offers the fairest, most unbiased and objective scoring. Make the best decisions about international applicants with the most reliable English language test that truly measures the English communication skills needed for academic success.

A combination of human and automated scoring

The Writing section of the TOEFL iBT® test uses a combination of human and automated scoring, which allows for the consistency of computer scoring coupled with the quality judgment of human raters. The Speaking section is scored exclusively by human raters.

Rigorously trained and monitored raters

TOEFL raters are rigorously trained, pass a certification test and are calibrated daily. Their work is continuously monitored for accuracy by scoring leaders and ETS staff.

Scoring processes that ensure score quality and integrity

Test responses are scored anonymously by a centralized network of raters, not by a single rater at the testing site, for truly fair and objective scoring. Multiple raters’ judgments contribute to each test taker’s Speaking and Writing scores in order to minimize rater bias and increase score reliability.

“The TOEFL test is the best researched language test in the world.”
